Seeds Of Third World War Sown In China? Nanking Charges Russia With Violation Of Treaty

NANKING, June 25 (IPA).—Dr. Sun Fo, Chinese Vice-President, is reported to be stating that North-East China would be the cause of the Third World War unless foreign aid was immediately forthcoming. Communists backed by Russia were now controlling 85 per cent of the North-Eastern Provinces.

The doctor laid the blame on the Soviet Union for the Outer Mongolian Invasion of Sinkiang, for barring the entry of Chinese forces to Dairen and Port Arthur, for admitting Communists into Manchuria, for assisting Koreans to fight alongside the Communists and for civil war in China.

In his opinion hope of peaceful settlement of the Communist problem was now gone and this was due to violation by Russia of the Sino-Soviet Treaty.

THE DAIREN MISSION

The Chinese Government announced today that a recent Chinese Mission of inspection to Dairen and Port Arthur having been a failure because of Soviet non-co-operation, it served notice that the Chinese Government considered itself free at any time to exercise its right to send troops to the two ports, says "Reuter".

The announcement said that Soviet Russia had repeatedly refused China permission to station troops in Port Arthur and Dairen and that the Chinese Government, therefore, was "constrained to call her serious attention to her fundamental obligations" under the Chinese-Russian Treaty.

CHINA FREE TO ACT

"At the same time," the announcement added, "The Chinese Government wishes hereby to declare that since the right of China to despatch troops and police to Port Arthur and Dairen is not restricted by the provisions of the Treaty, the Chinese Government is free at any time to decide on the exercise of this right."

The Chinese Government inspection Mission which arrived in Port Arthur on June 23 and returned five days later did not receive from the Soviet authorities the "promised assistance" in spite of assurances that this would be granted as well as "freedom of action in the discharge of its duties," the statement said.

"Lack of Soviet co-operation and obstruction before taking of local administration" was one factor which made it impossible for the Mission to carry out its plan of inspection," the announcement said.

It showed again that "Chinese Administrative personnel cannot hope to perform their functions without the presence and protection of an adequate force of Chinese troops and police in Port Arthur and Dairen."

TWO REASONS

The 'communist' said that the failure of the Chinese Mission to carry out its purpose—to investigate conditions before taking of local administration of the ports from the Soviet authorities—was due to two factors.

These were, firstly, the refusal of the Soviet Government to agree to the stationing of Chinese troops in Port Arthur and Dairen and, secondly, the formation by the Chinese Communists of strongly armed forces in the vicinity of the two ports to hinder the 'take-over' of these regions by the Chinese Government.

The existence of such armed forces resulted from the first refusal in October 1945 by the Soviet Government to agree to the landing of Chinese troops in Dairen, the 'communist' said.

GRAVE CONSEQUENCES

The Director of the Chinese Government's Information Office told correspondents that Russian policy towards China had "created a situation which causes general uneasiness."

It was only natural, therefore, that Chinese Vice-President Dr. Sun Fo should "express fear of grave consequences," he added.

He was referring to a recent statement by Dr. Sun Fo that Russia was interfering in China's internal affairs, aiding Chinese Communists and fostering conditions which might cause a third world war.

Press reports reaching here said that the Vice-President's statement had found wide support among Government circles in Manchuria.

The Mukden City Council appealed to the Government to adopt a stronger attitude towards Russia.

Athens Looks To Paris

Tsaldaris Expresses 'Satisfaction' At U.N. Findings

ATHENS, June 25 (Reuter).—Monsieur Constantin Tsaldaris, the Greek Vice-Premier, today expressed "satisfaction" at the United Nations Balkan Commission's report finding that Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria supported guerrilla warfare in Greece.

Government circles today said they pinned their hopes of any real improvement of Greece's internal situation on Friday's 'big three' meeting in Paris.

The work of the United Nations Sub-Commission in Salonika has been brought to a standstill by Bulgarian and Yugoslav obstructionist tactics, it was reported today.

Bulgaria has refused to allow the Sub-Commission to investigate on Bulgarian territory the alleged Yugoslav activities at two weeks talks has promised a reply next week.

PAKISTAN SECRETARIAT IN KARACHI

KARACHI, June 25 (A. P. I.): The construction of some of the offices of the new Pakistan Government, commenced in Karachi today on a Government plot measuring about 1,00,000 square yards.

Under the plan two rows, each consisting of ten offices with a forty feet wide road between them will be constructed at a cost of Rs. 6 lakhs. Cement blocks and asbestos sheets have been requisitioned for the purpose.

The work which is being carried on departmentally is expected to be completed by the middle of August.

The plot lies adjacent to the chief court. The last session of the All-India Muslim League was held here. It has been called "Karonabad."

CONSEMBLY PRESIDENT'S RESIGNATION DENIED

NEW DELHI, June 25 (A.P.I.): It is authoritatively learnt from the Secretariat of the Constituent Assembly that there is no basis for the press report that Dr. Rajendra Prasad has resigned his office as President of the Constituent Assembly.

SYLHET REFERENDUM

SHILLONG, June 24 (A.P.I.): "It has been decided that the referendum will be held throughout Sylhet District on July 6 and 7, and it must be distinctly understood that these dates will be adhered to and cannot be altered for any reason whatever," said Mr. H. C. Stork, Referendum Commissioner for Sylhet, in a press communiqué.

that Russia turned over virtually all war materials seized from the Japanese Kwangtung Army to the Chinese Communists in Manchuria and, in some cases, dug into Russia's own resources to strengthen the Red forces.

The source claimed the total equipment given the Communists included 151 planes, 155 tanks, 186 armoured cars and 787 big guns of various calibres. The source said the largest shipments of arms were made by the Soviets between January and June 1945 this year. He said the armaments made possible the Communist spring offensive during the first three months of the year and the fifth recent attack which has placed the Government in its current critical position in Manchuria.

The source said the deliveries were made in three instalments, starting with a small first consignment, from August 15, 1945, when the Japanese surrendered, to April 17, 1946, when the Soviet Army evacuated Manchuria.

UNO PATROL TO GUARD GREEK BORDER

Balkan Commission Accuses Yugoslavia, Albania And Bulgaria

LAKE SUCCESS, June 25 (U.P.A.).—The United Nations Balkan Investigating Commission accused Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria of fomenting the guerrilla fighting in Greece and advised the Security Council to use its limited peace-making machinery unless they stop.

With Russia and Poland dissenting on every point nine of the other members of the Commission urged: Firstly, the formation of a semi-permanent United Nations border patrol to watch the troubled Greek border.

Secondly, a study aimed at the voluntary exchange of minority groups in the Balkans to ease the unrest.

Thirdly, internationalization of refugee camps harbouring citizens who fled from one Balkan country to another.

Fourthly, a new treaty between Greece and her three neighbours along the lines of the Greco-Bulgarian Convention of 1931.

CHARGES AGAINST GREECE

The majority report condemned Greece for showing discrimination towards minorities and for reprisals against political opposition. The report obliquely advised the Greek Government to grant a "new amnesty" to political prisoners and guerrillas and added, "It would be idle to believe the situation in northern Greece could be cured by a stroke of the pen."

The long awaited recommendations were handed to the Council over Russia's warning that the majority was trying to tamper with the sovereignty of the four Balkan countries. The Council begins a debate on the report Friday.

France refused to join the other eight countries of the majority in the series of findings, separate from the recommendations, that charged the Soviet orbit countries with training and equipping refugees from Greece and sending them back to fight against the Government.

RUSSIA DEFENDS GREECE

The Russian delegate, supported by the Poles, said the Greek accusations were "unproved," and investigation had shown that the Greek Government had pushed the nation "into a state of civil war by a policy of oppression and terrorism." He protested that most of the witnesses heard by the Commission were from "Fascist and criminal elements." He charged the Greek Government had used "threats of torture and blackmail" to make witnesses support the Greek case.

A THREAT TO PEACE

The recommendations originated by Britain and the United States and supported by France, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, China, Colombia and Syria, said, "In the light of the situation investigated by it the Commission believes that in the area of its investigation future cases of support of armed bands formed on the territory of one state and crossing into the territory of another state... should be considered by the Security Council a threat to peace within the meaning of the Charter of the United Nations."

In threats to peace the Council is supposed to order international sanctions against the offending countries and, if these fail, to send a United Nations Police Force into the area to suppress the threat.

The report emphasized that Balkan relations were strained by the refusal of most of the countries concerned to accept as final their frontiers as at present defined."

Scaling Down Egypt's Credit

Negotiations Over Sterling Issue Lead To Interim Agreement

LONDON, June 25 (A.P.A.): British and Egyptian negotiators have reached a provisional interim agreement under which Egypt's nearly 400,000,000 pounds sterling balance, authoritative sources reported today.

The crucial question of whether Egypt would scale down her balance in face of a strong demand to do so has remained "temporarily unanswered," the sources added.

Egypt's resistance to scaling down her balance came against British insistence that this should take place, the informants reported.

Finally the situation was resolved by agreeing to sidetrack a decision on the issue. Accordingly, the sources said, the agreement at present being drafted will be "provisional and interim" pending a final settlement. They were unable to say when negotiations for a final settlement would take place.

IRANIAN PRINCE Plays Truant

Escapes To Paris From U.S. School

PARIS, June 25 (U.P.A.): The 15-year-old Iranian Prince of Iran, Hamid Riza Pahlavi, arrived by plane in Paris today from a fashionable United States school. The youngster said flatly he would not return to the United States, but an Iranian Legation spokesman said equally firmly the Prince would return.

Explaining what probably is the world's first case of a trans-Atlantic airplane truancy, the Prince said: "Well, I just decided to take a vacation and left. I don't know how long I am remaining in Paris. In any event, I am not returning to New York, but returning to Iran."

At that point the Prince was hustled into a waiting automobile by Amir Aslani, First Secretary to the Iranian Legation and sent off to the Legation for lunch.

Conditions For Success In Palestine

Govt. Memorandum To U. N. O. Committee Stresses Need For Arab-Jew Understanding

JERUSALEM, June 25 (Reuter).—The Palestine Government in a statement to the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine today declared that "only through the free recognition by both Arabs and Jews of the position, needs and rights of the other community, and by the willingness of each to contribute materially and morally to the well-being of the people of Palestine as a whole, can a 'National Home' be established."

"Courage, imagination and the will to compromise is required to achieve these ends which cannot be imposed but must be sought from the two peoples primarily concerned," it added.

The statement, which represents the British Administration's case on the Palestine problem, outlined the 27-year-old history of the Palestine Government and its "continual struggle" to unite Arabs and Jews for their mutual benefit.

It admitted the Government has been generally unsuccessful in inducing Arabs and Jews to co-operate in public works for the common end.

BASIS FEAR

The main reason for failing to secure co-operation on public bodies, it said, was the question of numerically equal representation. The Jews generally maintain that the principle should be applied; the Arabs wholly reject it.

Behind the struggle that developed is "the basic fear of domination of one community by the other."

The statement noted Zionist achievements in Palestine and commented that they were "widely known and deservedly praised."

It outlined the Administration's achievements in the fields of health, education, industry and agriculture in all of which state action had been required and improvements made.

KIDNAP ATTEMPT FOILED

JERUSALEM, June 25 (A.P.I.): Three Jews today attempted to kidnap a member of the Palestine Government Secretariat who is on the Liaison List for the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine, but fled after the man's wife screamed and a police patrol arrived.

Unofficial reports said that Allen Major, employed in the Palestine Chief Secretariat's office and now assigned to Liaison work with U.N.S.C.O.P. was set upon and beaten by three Jews as he entered his office in King George Avenue.

Mrs. Major called for help and as the police patrol arrived the three Jews fled to a red car and sped away leaving wounds, one eye-witness declaring that blood covered his neck and collar.

Resistance To Isolation Move

Hyderabad State Congress Chief's Invitation To Nizam

NAGPUR, June 25 (UPD): Swami Ramanand Tirtha, President, Hyderabad State Congress, who is now here in the course of a statement, says: "Nizam's claim to declare himself an independent sovereign has been opposed by the people and they are determined to resist any attempt to keep Hyderabad out of the Indian Union."

Is it the Prince or the people? The fate of 16 million people cannot be decided arbitrarily in this way. Independence of Hyderabad is a danger to India."

Referring to the threat held out by "reactionary Muslims" to use arms, Swami Ramanand says: "All that I have said at this stage is that Hyderabad people's movement cannot be evoked in this manner." He states that the methods of the State Congress have been always peaceful and non-violent. "The Government and non-violent elements will try to provide us but let us be firm and unperturbed and act with courage and confidence."

Swami Ramanand further announced that the Working Committee of the State Congress is meeting on June 29. No question of defiance need arise at this stage. It is for the Government of Hyderabad to follow a statesmanlike policy and give up the idea of isolating Hyderabad from the rest of India.

RUSSIA SUSPECTS MARSHALL PLAN FOR EUROPE

American Aid Offer Bound To Fail If Found Anti-Communist, Says 'Pravda'

LONDON, June 25 (U.P.A.): The Moscow newspaper, "Pravda," said the Marshall plan for aid to Europe would be rejected by all "self-respecting" European nations if it carried anti-Communist strings, but Britain indicated its readiness to go ahead without Russian participation.

BRITAIN READY TO GO AHEAD

A high British Government source said Britain was ready to go ahead with a unified programme without Russia, if necessary. He said the primary task of the Paris Conference was to determine how far Russia was ready to co-operate.

"Pravda" said that if the overall American aid plan resembled the Greek-Turkish programme in its anti-Communist aspects, the assistance programme it called the Marshall plan "too general" at this stage for the Russians to know whether it aimed at European settlement or an ideological war between capitalism and Communism.

The source said that meanwhile the British were encouraged by the developments in the preliminary negotiations to establish a unified European rehabilitation programme. The source said that Britain would propose at Paris the establishment of an overall steering committee to formulate European needs with sub-committees on special economic fields. He said the British Cabinet felt that there was no time for an all-European Conference.

ANGLO-RUSSIAN TRADE AGREEMENT

Independently of these developments Britain and Russia were reported to be nearing the conclusion of a broad trade agreement, whereby Britain would receive immediate grain and timber shipments in return for machinery, bulldozers and financial credits on the 1941 credit to Russia.

Bengal Partition Sequel: India Bill Early In July

LONDON, June 25 (U.P.A.): The British Government has agreed to the Muslim League nominees relinquishing their Interim Government posts and Bengal Province coming under section 35 with the termination of Bengal Muslim League Ministry.

The Interim Government's Muslim League members with others would be charged with the formation of the Pakistan Government prior to the British Parliament's August dominion status legislation. It was termed today.

DOMINION BILL PLANS

The British Government will present the Bill which is to create two separate Dominions in India, to Parliament on Monday, July 7, unless there is a last minute hitch. I learn authoritatively to-night, cables Fraser Wighton, Reuter's political correspondent.

This date is subject to last-minute alteration, but on the assumption that plans go to schedule, it is probable that the Bill will receive second reading somewhere between the 14th and 21st July, and will not only be debated during that period but rushed also through report and Committee stages and third reading.

It should be in the hands of the House of Lords—who are expected to keep it for a day only—by the fourth week of the month, and, after receiving the Royal assent, become law before the end of July.

Latest indications are that the Bill will not exceed 30 to 34 clauses.

Political quarters believe that the three sections of chief significance will be:

(1) That specifying the creation of the two dominions;—

(2) Possibly a Clause specifying the actual date of transfer of power, generally believed to be August 15; and

(3) A Clause ending the King's title as Emperor of India.

Consequential legislation taking care of all the details of transfer which could not without delaying the changeover, be incorporated in the present short Bill, will be introduced. It is thought, in the new Parliamentary session between October and Christmas.

LORD ADDISON MAY VISIT INDIA

There is expectation in informed London political quarters to expect that Viscount Addison, Secretary of State for the Dominions, may be able to spend a few days in India on his back by air from the Dominions Conference on the Japanese Peace

More Foodgrains For Bombay

AHMEDABAD, June 25 (A.P.I.): In response to the appeal made by Mr. Khushnabhai Desai, M.L.A., Secretary of the Textile Labour Association, the Government of India, it is understood, have increased the allotment of wheat, rice and Jawar, for Bombay Province which would obviate any further cut in ration. The Dal has also been allotted to Bombay Province.

Treaty in 1977 Australia, 18 August.

By that time Lord Addison, as Dominions Secretary, will be the chief link between the Indian Union and Pakistan, to whom power will doubtless have been transferred and Britain.

The India Office and the India Secretary of State as such will have ceased to exist.

The official plans are at the moment incomplete, but the proposal that he should endeavour to spend a short time in India has already been made to the Dominions Secretary. Informants think that if the circumstances are appropriate and the time factor permits, Lord Addison will visit India on the occasion.

MOOREHEAD, DEPT. OF SEC. 23 FOR BENGAL

CALCUTTA, June 25 (U.P.I.): Dr. Shyama Prasad Mukherjee has sent a telegram to Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru and Dr. Rajendra Prasad demanding immediate promulgation of Section 35 in Bengal.

He says: "Insistent demand for immediate dissolution of Bengal Ministry. Its continuance after June 30 constitutes an impediment. Ministry's activities highly prejudicial to interests of new province. Please insist Section 35 with regional advisers pending formation regional ministries."

LONDON, June 25 (U.P.A.): The Moscow newspaper, "Pravda," said the Marshall plan for aid to Europe would be rejected by all "self-respecting" European nations if it carried anti-Communist strings, but Britain indicated its readiness to go ahead without Russian participation.

The "Pravda" editorial broadcast by Radio Moscow said failure of the Marshall plan would be a foregone conclusion if the American aid offer was similar to the Greek-Turkish programme. It called the Marshall plan "too general" at this stage for the Russians to know whether it aimed at European settlement or an ideological war between capitalism and Communism.

At London U. S. Under-Secretary of State William Clayton, Premier Attlee, Lord Cripps and Mr. Stafford Cripps met at Number 10 Downing Street in another long conference on American-European economic relations. Clayton is expected to be in Paris when Sir Bernard, Eden and Molotov meet there on Friday.

CLAYTON BELIEVES TRUSTS

Sources indicated that Clayton somewhat relieved British fears that Congress might refuse to finance the recovery programme even if the European nations were prepared to accept a unified plan. They added that there was considerable concern in Britain that the wave of labour trouble in the United States resulting from the new labour (Taft-Hartley) Bill law might impair America's ability to help. Regarding the forthcoming Paris talks the sources said Britain believes the United Nations European Economic Commission should be brought in at some stage but that it was "not yet sufficiently organized" to handle the whole task now.

PLAN CONDITIONED BY U. S. ECONOMY

The Soviet newspaper, "Pravda," said today in an article broadcast by Radio Moscow that Marshall's proposals are conditioned by present conditions of United States economy. The almost general opinion in the United States is that with every day the threat of an economic disaster is growing. The United States are trying to find a way out of the difficulties of a growing crisis by... finding new markets and strengthening their position in the old ones."

AMERICA PREPARES FOR WAR?

NEW YORK, June 25 (U.P.A.): America is preparing for another war which was coming faster than anyone thought and which would be fought on American soil, said Major-General Stewart Hughes at the inspection of Atlantic Ordnance Depot. He warned guided missiles and aerial bombs would be used putting America in same position as Britain during the Second World War.

England Beat South Africa

LONDON, June 25 (Reuter).—England beat South Africa in the second Cricket Test by ten wickets.

England scored 266 for zero (Hutton not out 13, Washbrook not out 18).

South Africa made a grand fight to avoid an innings defeat against England in the second Cricket Test at Lords today and at lunch they were 206 for 6 wickets in their second innings.

They scored 227 in their first innings and still 21 runs behind England's first innings total of 554 for 8 declared.

The wicket partnership which had yielded 92 in hundred minutes over night was broken by the first ball today, Nourse being bowled by Edrich. Then Mitchell, who batted dourly and presented an impenetrable defence, was helped by Dawson in the fourth wicket stand of 72 before Edrich dismissed Mitchell with a brilliant slip catch, turning somersault in the process.

Mitchell batted for four and quarter hours and hit seven fours. South Africa actually lost three wickets in the space of nine runs. Mitchell and Dawson going at 192 and Harris at 201.

STERN RESISTANCE BY TAIL-END

South Africa's tail-end batsmen offered stern resistance after lunch but the side was all out for 227 leaving England to get 26 for victory.

Rowan defended stoutly for one hour forty minutes in scoring 38 and Lindsay played 40 minutes to help him add 16 for the ninth wicket.

Then Douglas Wright, Kent's spin bowler, coming on at 252, dismissed the last two batsmen with his first two balls.

Wright finished with five wickets for 80 runs, making his match total

10 for 175 runs.

HUTTON SCORES WINNING HIT

Hutton and Washbrook took half-an-hour to knock off the required 26 runs each scoring 13. They batted steadily but soon opened out and Hutton scored the winning hit when he cracked Mann to the boundary.

Capital Of Indian Union

Patil Urges Bombay As Suitable Choice

BOMBAY, Wednesday. Speaking at a meeting of the Rotary Club of Bombay, Mr. S. K. Patil, P.F.C. President, said that the city of Bombay would be an ideal capital for the future Indian Union both from the point of view of its situation and climate. Mr. Mervanji Patel presided.

COSMOPOLITAN CITY

Besides having one of the finest ports in the world, Bombay was the most cosmopolitan city in India. Mr. Patil added. In this city people of different nationalities lived in amity and friendliness. From the historical point of view, Delhi could no longer be the capital of the city dynasties after dynasties rose only to be destroyed within a short period of their existence.

Explaining the disadvantages of the present capital, Mr. Patil said that Delhi was only an "artificial city." It had managed to remain the centre of political activity only because the British chose to follow the example of the Moghuls in establishing a Central Government there. No ruler had found happiness there. More important than this was that in Bombay one took people at their value whereas in Delhi the problem of the Hindustani and Pakistan was very acute. Again looked at from this point of view, Delhi was strategically more vulnerable than Bombay especially if the relations between the two States worsened.

GREAT SEA PORT

Finally, Bombay was one of the world's great sea ports and would soon have one of the most modern airports at Santa Cruz thereby giving it together with its superb harbour over Delhi with regard to transport and world contacts. And if it were true that Bombay was not the geographic centre of India neither was London the centre of England nor New York of the U.S.A.

Mr. Patil admitted that Bombay had to solve many problems in the shape of water, roads, transport, housing, sanitation, health, education, etc., but the patience with which the Corporation and the Government as the Gandhian ideal of a city beautiful was always before them.

Mr. Chhotabhai Patel proposed a vote of thanks to the Speaker.

DEVELOPMENT OF INDUSTRIAL ENGINEERING

Seth Rathchand Stresses India's Need Of Foreign Machinery & Technical Advice

Seth Rathchand Hirachand, Chairman of the Bombay Presidency Branch, Engineering Association of India, addressing the first annual gathering on 20th June 1947, said that the country was passing through a very acute transitional period, being at the threshold of Home Rule, and the engineering industry was destined to play a prominent part in the country's future. For this purpose it was necessary to import various types of foreign machinery to meet the existing shortage. The industry required a remarkable technical skill, which should enable it to make rapid strides in progress. Engineering firms engaged in the production of material for further processing in other industries, must receive priority from the Government so that quick development of Engineering industries could be assured in the country.

LABOUR PROBLEMS

He referred to the problem of dealing with the labour made difficult by the unresponsive and indifferent attitude of the working class. He also said that want of transport facilities had affected the progress of the industry. He suggested that the Government should, if necessary, procure the services of foreign technicians for giving guidance and advice on the spot. The war had, he added, enlarged constructional activities and iron and steel would continue to remain in demand and new steel works with adequate supply of suitable coal for metallurgical operations should receive priority in the immediate planning programme. It was encouraging that the Government had started the Shipbuilding Industry, too, appeared feasible. He also stressed the building of railway workshops and the manufacture of electrical goods.

COMMUNAL UNREST

He regretted that the communal riots had wrought a setback to the progress of the industry. He suggested that in view of the backwardness of the country in the development of the industry, industrial products should be lightly taxed. The factors of labour, material and capital, he added, must be effectively brought under discipline. He, therefore, suggested that the Government must be firm in preventing labour unrest. Nationalisation of industries like Engineering was not feasible at the present moment as the working class had not progressed in education and discipline. While the country was emerging from the agricultural condition and progress in industry was slow, the talk of nationalisation was inopportune.

CALCUTTA GAS CO. (PROPRIETARY) LTD.

The Company, as its name implies, has been formed for the purpose of purchasing the Oriental Gas Co. Ltd. of Calcutta. The managing agents Messrs Soorajmull Nagarmull, the reputed industrialists of India, have already acquired 98 per cent of the shares for the above holding company. The holding company will enjoy all the fruits of a monopolistic public utility concern of a metropolis. The consumption of gas for public, domestic, industrial and scientific uses have been steadily growing and are bound to grow very much more in the near future.

The present holding company will be in a much better position because taxation of the United Kingdom hitherto chargeable to the sterling company in London, would not have to be borne by it. In the event of the holding company becoming the operating company, of which there is stated to be every likelihood with reputed and powerful businessmen at the helm of affairs, its prospects are bound to be better still.

Frontier Faces New Struggle

CONGRESS DECISION TO BOYCOTT REFERENDUM

Reign Of Terror Makes Free Voting Impossible

PESHAWAR, June 25, (U.P.I.): Khan Abdul Gaffar Khan in the course of a lengthy statement has announced the boycott of the Frontier referendum on the present issue, but has stated that he is prepared to accept it on Pathanistan versus Pakistan.

In the course of the statement he maintained that the great majority of Pakhtoons were for establishment of a free Pathan State.

As regards a referendum on the present issue he said that he was convinced that they would not associate themselves with this referendum, because of so many difficulties.

He appealed to all Pathans to keep aloof peacefully from it and meanwhile prepare themselves against the coming danger wherein not only the liberty of the Pakhtoons but their very existence is at stake.

The following is the full statement issued to the press yesterday:

"Great changes that are taking place in India as a result of the ending of the British domination not only affect the whole of India but the Frontier province also. I have given the greatest thought to these changes and have also consulted my co-workers.

More than a generation we struggled for freedom in Frontier. In the course of this struggle, we Pathans suffered great hardships but have never given up the struggle. Our struggle was against the British rule and domination and in this we allied ourselves with the Indian National Congress—the great organisation which was similarly fighting the British.

Naturally in the circumstances, we found ourselves in close alliance and comradeship with the Congress. When we in Frontier were in great trouble in the course of the freedom struggle, it was the Congress that came to our help, which, in spite of our requests, the Muslim League refused to give. As a matter of fact many of the present League leaders of Frontier helped the British against their kith and kin."

"Our struggle all along had been for the freedom of India and more especially of Pathans. We want complete freedom. That ideal of ours still remains with us and we shall work for it.

"Unfortunately, recent developments have placed grave difficulties in our way. In the announcement of E. M. G. of June 3, it has been stated that a referendum will be held in the N. W.F.P. where the only alternative which will be put before the voters of the present Legislative Assembly will be whether to join the Indian Union or to remain a separate entity."

"We cannot vote, as we want to vote, for a free Pathan State."

REIGN OF TERROR

"We must also take into consideration all that has happened in the N. W. F. P. during the last few months. An organised campaign of terrorism was launched by the Leaguers which resulted in murder of hundreds of innocent men, women and children. Property worth crores of rupees were destroyed through loot and arson. The whole atmosphere, therefore, was charged with communal frenzy and passion.

Even now leading members of the Muslim League are carrying on a raging and tearing campaign to frighten people from voting against them in the referendum.

Evidently, they not only want to prevent tens of thousands of refugees who have gone out of the province from voting in the referendum, but are threatening others who are in the province from voting by telling that they do so at their peril. They remind them of the horrible outrages which afflicted the face of our province during the last few months. Religious passions of unsophisticated Pathans also are being aroused by describing the contest on the present issues as the between Kafirs and Islam."

"Holding a referendum in the circumstances and on present issues,

Thakin Nu Suggests Investigation By British Parliamentary Delegation

LONDON, June 24 (Reuters): Thakin Nu, President of the Burmese Constituent Assembly now creating a constitution for independent Burma and leader of the Burma political 'goodwill delegation' to London, today told the Secretary of State, Lord Listowel, that Burma would welcome a British Parliamentary delegation to Burma to investigate and report on the situation of the Burmese frontier people who were being intimidated in their approach to self-determination, writes Fraser Wighton, Reuters' Political Correspondent. Thakin Nu who is accompanied by U Kyam Nyein, Home Member of the Governor's Executive Council, and U Ko Gyi, Vice-President of the Burmese Socialist Party, was today received also by the British Prime Minister, Mr. Clement Attlee, to whom he gave the good wishes of the Burmese people.

In an exclusive interview with Reuters, Thakin Nu, who is Vice-President of the Burma anti-Fascist People's Freedom League and Deputy to General Aung San, President of the League and Vice-Chairman of the

"JUST CONSEQUENCE OF UNJUST ACT"

Kripalani's Views On Partition Of Punjab And Bengal

NEW DELHI, June 24 (U. P. I.): While regarding the division of India into two States as a misfortune, Acharya J. B. Kripalani, Congress President, characterised the partition of Bengal and the Punjab as "a just consequence of an unjust act" in an exclusive interview to the United Press of India special representative who approached him for his views on the situation arising out of the final decision about the partition of Bengal and the Punjab.

Acharya Kripalani, however, thought that now that the partition was an accomplished fact it would be good to neither party to rake up the past and apportion blame.

The following is the full text of Acharya Kripalani's remarks: "For Congressmen to whom the unity of India is an article of faith, the proposed division of India into two States is a misfortune. But once this division was forced on us, the partition of Bengal and the Punjab was inevitable. It is just a consequence of an unjust act. However, now that the partition is an accomplished fact, it will do good to neither party to rake up the past and apportion blame. Our business should at present be to accept the inevitable without bitterness and make the best of what has happened. The sooner the separated parts begin to function independently the better for the both. Each will then realise the magnitude of constructive tasks that lie ahead of it and will have neither time nor energy for mutual recrimination."

Asked about the present situation in the Punjab, the Congress President said: "Reports from Lahore are shocking. The city is practically at the mercy of goondas and assassins. Those who are indulging in this dance of death are enemies of both Hindus and Muslims and must be treated as such. It is the duty of those who still are in effective control of India to take the most drastic measures to restore normal civilized life of the city, who worked up communal fury of ignorant masses must also accept the responsibility of controlling the passions they roused."

Plans For Development Of Indian Shipping

Walchand Explains Objects Of His Mission To London

The following is the text of a speech delivered by Mr. Walchand Hirachand, Leader of the Indian Shipping Delegation to the United Kingdom, at a reception held in his honour by Mr. Ratilal M. Gandhi, President of the Indian Merchants' Chamber, at the premises of the Chamber, on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Ratilal and Friends.—It is really very kind of you, Mr. Ratilal, to have accorded this reception on the eve of my departure to London as the Leader of the Indian Shipping Delegation. I am thankful to you for thus giving me an opportunity to meet so many of our leading businessmen and friends. I also deeply appreciate the generous expressions in which you have praised my service to the cause of Indian shipping.

We are not going to London on our own initiative and of our own accord. Our Delegation has been, as you know, appointed by the Government of India as a result of their talks with the British Government. We, however, do not know the nature of the conversations held between the two Governments. We are also not aware of the attitude and approach of the British Government towards the expansion of Indian shipping even in India's own overseas trades.

DOMINANCE OF BRITISH SHIPPING

As you are aware, it is British shipping that yet dominates the maritime trades. According to the Report of the Imperial Shipping Committee issued in 1939, 95 per cent of the export cargo from the U. K. to India and over 99.5 per cent of the export cargo from India to the U. K. was carried in British ships in 1936 and 1937. The same position more or less holds good even to-day. It will, therefore, be obvious that unless British shipping agrees to withdraw its tonnage from the Indian trades which it has dominated till date, Indian shipping can make very little permanent progress in the matter of carrying India's overseas trades. I would have, therefore, wished that the proposed negotiations should have been carried on at Government level, and the fundamental lines of expansion of Indian shipping in India's maritime trades on the basis of co-operation and goodwill should have been settled by the two Governments.

INDIA GOVERNMENT'S INITIATIVE

Our Government, however, have asked the Indian shipowners to proceed to London and to explore the possibilities of effecting satisfactory arrangements for the participation of Indian shipping in the carriage of India's overseas trades. We are, therefore, going there in response to the invitation and desire of our own Government. We are fully conscious, however, of the complexities of the problem and the difficulties of our task. To proceed to London on a mission of such vital importance to the future of India and as a Government-sponsored Delegation, without any knowledge of the nature of the talks between the two Governments which are responsible for the arrangement of the forthcoming conversations, is, I am sure you will realise, not a matter of small handicap to us in the discharge of the onerous duties with which we have been entrusted. Nevertheless we shall do our utmost to serve our country and to serve the cause which we represent to the best of our ability and judgment.

BASIS OF LONDON TALKS

It is a matter of some satisfaction that our Government have agreed that the fundamental basis of our negotiations in London should be the recommendations made by the Shipping Policy Sub-Committee and generally approved by the main Shipping Policy Committee appointed by the Government of India. These recommendations visualise the carriage of over ten million tons of cargo and over two lakhs of passengers in ships which are responsible for the transport of India's overseas trades. By Indians, during the course of the next 5 or 7 years. We shall, no doubt, therefore, proceed to arrive at an understanding with the British shipping interests on the above vital basis which has been approved both by the people and the Government of this country.

We, however, do not know how the British shipping interests will respond to the above fair and just proposal for the expansion of Indian shipping in India's overseas trades. Their attitude is an uncertain factor. The manner in which the British shipping Lines trading with India have been building new tonnage to maintain and expand their existing services, and the vigour with which efforts are being made to make the producers and the consumers in the two countries believe that they will suffer from inefficient and costly service if Indian shipping were allowed to take the place of British shipping, do not inspire the hope that our friends across the seas are genuinely anxious to accept our hand of friendship and work with us in a true spirit of co-operation and good-will. I am sorry to say this. But these are facts. I, however, do not wish to prophesy a break-down of our talks. It will be our endeavour at least, I assure you, in spite of what is happening elsewhere, to do our best to arrive at an understanding which may be just and fair to this country.

It is, however, rightly stated, our target is to own 2 million gross tons of Indian shipping during the course of the next five or seven years. It is obvious that without ships we cannot carry on the trades that we have in view. We may, therefore, be confronted with a question from friends across the seas: "Where have you got the tonnage which is necessary to carry the trades that you have been asking for?" I know it is difficult to produce all this tonnage overnight. I also do not wish to minimise the difficulties of securing tonnage from other countries. It is true that Indian shipping companies have got 11 ships from America, but that is only a drop in the ocean. It is an encouraging sign of the times however, that our Government are prepared to help us in getting such tonnage from other countries as may be available and as may be suitable for our requirements. In view of the embargo put on the sales of ships by the British Ministry of Transport and of the stiffening attitude of the American Government in the disposal of their surplus tonnage, there is no doubt that the question of obtaining suitable ships bristles with considerable difficulties.

REDEEMING FEATURES

The situation, however, is not without its redeeming features. It is really encouraging for the future of Indian shipping and augurs well for the navy of supply of the future that a number of Indian shipping companies has come into existence.

There has been a wide awakening in the country in regard to India's need for Indian ships. That awakening has found practical expression in the endeavours that have been put forth all round for acquiring or building ships and running them in India's trades. I understand from reliable quarters that India's tonnage which was only a little over a lakh of tons gross just before the war, has now increased to nearly 3 lakhs of tons gross. I am also told that the building or acquiring of half a million tons gross of further tonnage is well under active consideration and consideration by the different Indian shipping companies that are in the field. We shall need all the help and encouragement of our Government both for the acquisition as well as for the building up of the tonnage that we require.

ORDERS FOR NEW SHIPS

It is not easy to place orders for building ships in the United Kingdom. Their berths are fully occupied. Although that country is building today over 20 per cent of the tonnage under construction in its yards for foreign countries, very few ships are being built in that land on account of India. May I, therefore, request the Government of India to do all they can to enable Indian shipowners to place their orders for the building of ships in the United Kingdom?

As you know, we have got a Shipbuilding Yard at vizag. We are building two ocean-going ships in that Yard at present. With all the kind thoughts of our present Government for the efforts that we are putting forth, the materials do not flow fast. The quotas of steel allotted to us are often cancelled. Labour must be continued to be paid. You will easily understand our difficulties in the matter of speedy construction of ships in our own country. If, however, the Government pursues an active and effective policy for helping Indian shipping companies in acquiring or building tonnage abroad and if they give promptly and continuously all the facilities and help which the Indian shipbuilding industry needs, I venture to predict that neither will the Indian capital be slow in forthcoming nor will the Indian enterprise fail to respond quickly to its duty for enabling Indian shipping companies to own a couple of million tons gross of shipping during the course of the next five or seven years. The situation, however, requires vigilant watchfulness, continuous adjustments and prompt and effective help from the Government of this country.

TASK AHEAD

I do not wish, gentlemen, to prolong my remarks. There are, however, one or two points of special importance, having a vital bearing on the task which we have undertaken, to which I would like to invite your special attention. The policy of negotiations may succeed or may fail. I, however, share the considered opinion of the Shipping Policy Sub-Committee that "the policy of negotiations alone cannot develop national shipping." Like the members of that Committee, I hold the view that "like other important maritime countries of the world, India will have to take a militant view of her responsibilities and obligations towards national shipping." Along with the members of that Committee, I would also urge that in any plan that they may prepare to ensure the building up of an Indian merchant navy, the Government of India should be prepared to adopt all such measures including financial assistance for the development of Indian shipping as has been adopted by the leading maritime countries of the world, such as Great Britain and the United States of America.

But the question is will the Government of India be able to adopt all such measures if they join the proposed Inter-Governmental Maritime Consultative Organization? One of the vital objects of this proposed Organisation is to ensure that there should be no discrimination by any Government in the matter of shipping. In plain language, although both America and Great Britain have adopted upto now a number of discriminatory measures to build up their own merchant navies, they would now call upon such countries like India whose position is in a stage of infancy, to agree that will not give any such assistance for the development of their shipping as has enabled the United Kingdom and America to develop their shipping in the past. To agree to such a policy—which will be nothing but a suicidal policy of inaction for countries whose shipping is in its early stage of growth—will be to nip in the bud the growth of Indian shipping and to prevent its marching further on its right and legitimate path of expansion. I, therefore, hope that our Government will not join an organisation the object of which is to prevent backward maritime countries like India from developing their own navy of supply.

It is also quite essential that the Government of India should take effective steps to secure a place for shipping on the agenda of the International Conference on Trade and Employment. As observed by the Shipping Policy Sub-Committee, the Government of India will have to put up a firm fight for enabling India to acquire her proper share of shipping if she is to play her real role in the reconstruction and expansion of world trade. I am, however, told that the subject referring to the promotion of national shipping was excluded from the agenda of that Conference when it met in London in October last. Similar efforts, I am told, are being made now that the Conference is sitting in Geneva. It is preposterous that countries of the world should meet for promoting the international trade of the world and at the same time agree to exclude shipping from their consideration although it is admitted by all that without the expansion and development of shipping, no country can contribute effectively towards the expansion of world trade.

Therefore, appeal to our Government that they should see that no action is taken at that Conference which may prevent the legitimate expansion of Indian shipping in the future.

And now I have done. Let me thank you, Mr. Ratilal, and let me thank you, gentlemen, for doing me this honour of listening to me. I assure you that despite the difficulties and the complexities of the task with which we have been entrusted it is indeed a matter of satisfaction and encouragement to us that we carry with us the good wishes of this Chamber and friends like you for the success of the mission for which we will shortly be leaving for London.

BREEZE BETWEEN R. K. NEHRU AND CLOW

SHANGHAI, June 25 (A.P.A.): A breeze between Mr. R. K. Nehru, the Indian delegate, and Sir Andrew Clow for the United Kingdom, marked the proceedings of the Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East yesterday.

Delegates finally agreed to collect information on the economic reconstruction of Asia and the Far East and assigned the task to the secretariat, over strong Russian opposition.

The meeting was marked by numerous amendments to the sub-committee's draft resolution on work to be done by what is essentially an advisory mission.

Mr. Nehru remarked at one point that the Commission was groping in the dark.

Sir Andrew Clow for the United Kingdom, after he had been requested by Nehru to amend the previous amendment ended the discussion with the statement that he was unable to satisfy his Indian colleague.

Eisenhower Elected President Of Columbia University Board

NEW YORK, June 24 (U.P.A.): The Columbia University Board of Trustees today announced that General Dwight D. Eisenhower was elected president.

The university is one of the world's largest and wealthiest institutions of higher learning.

General Eisenhower has today accepted the presidency of Columbia University to become effective at such time as his official superior may release him from active duty in the army. While this date cannot be accurately foreseen, it is probable that with no radical change in the current outlook, it should be sometime during the first half of 1948.

Eisenhower has been Chief of Staff since November 21, 1945. He is 57 years of age and succeeded General George C. Marshall, now Secretary of State.

The War Department did not discuss who would succeed Eisenhower as Chief of Staff, but Eisenhower and other War Department leaders let it be understood that the successor probably will be General Omar Bradley, now Veteran Administrator.

3 Iraqi Communists To Die

BAGHDAD, June 25 (A.P.A.): Three alleged members of the Iraqi communist party were condemned to death by the Iraqi High Court yesterday, the first time that communists have been sentenced to death since the establishment of the Iraqi national administration.

Ten more were sentenced to 15 years imprisonment and 17, including three women, were acquitted. Two more women were sentenced to 11 months imprisonment with a suspension of the jail term.

The High Court based its condemnation on "establishing a secret communist party, propagating communism among more than one civilian and members of the armed forces, and contacting foreign communist parties."

Steel And Textile Shares Decline In Quiet Market

SHARP RISE IN COTTON PRICES IN LATE TRADING

Active Professional Buying In Silver

The Bombay Stock Exchange was quietly steady to-day with a restricted turnover. Several operators prefer to wait reliable news from Jamshehpur where it is said that some discontent prevails. No far there is no official confirmation of market fears but anyhow there is less inclination to operate at present and the market is moving without any definite price trend.

Tata Steel Deft shares opened at Rs. 1990 and declined at Rs. 1965 on scattered liquidation but recovered at Rs. 1977/8 on short covering. Ordinary shares opened at Rs. 392 and declined at Rs. 388. Bombay Dyeing shares opened at Rs. 1095 and quiet.

en at Rs. 1080. Kohinoors opened at Rs. 850 and after declining at Rs. 843 rallied at Rs. 848.

In the absence of any buying support the market again sagged on further long liquidation. The feeble rally failed to attract any important support and Tata Steel Defts declined at Rs. 1945 which was the lowest level for the day. Thereafter there was a small rally and Defts stood at Rs. 1960 while Ordinary shares were quoted at Rs. 388. Bombay Dyeings quieted at Rs. 1070 and Kohinoors were quoted at Rs. 843 and Simplex shares were placed at Rs. 345. Central Banks sagged at Rs. 96/14 while Scindia shares stood at Rs. 31/4. GOLD AND SILVER

The local Bullion market was active to-day with increased buying and selling mostly of speculative nature. It appears that the market is sharply divided into two groups and each one is trying to turn the market in its favour. Professional operators with their extensive resources are in a position to dictate prices and it remains to be seen whether bulls force shorts to cover.

Forward Silver opened to-day at Rs. 173 and declined at Rs. 171/4 on heavy selling but at the decline bulls supported the market and Forward Silver rallied at Rs. 172/4. Ready Silver was quoted at Rs. 172/8.

Forward Gold opened to-day at Rs. 115/8 and declined at Rs. 114/14 on general liquidation but recovered at Rs. 115/6 on active buying. Ready Gold was quoted at Rs. 115/10 and Sovereigns were placed at Rs. 74/4.

Later on there was further buying and Forward Silver improved at Rs. 173 while Gold was steady at Rs. 115/6.

The market finally closed as under:—
Ready Silver Rs. 173 1/4
Settlement Silver 174 8 0
Ready Gold 115 8 0
Settlement Gold 115 4 0
Sovereigns 74 8 0

BOMBAY COTTON

The local cotton market was quietly steady to-day with moderate business passing. As a mark of respect to the death of a member of the Association the market was scheduled to close early and naturally there was absence of any aggressive action.

At the opening September was quoted at Rs. 448/8 and moderate buying and scattered covering hardened September option at Rs. 449. At this level the demand was satisfied and the market quietened at Rs. 448/12. Thereafter there was moderate buying and September delivery advanced at Rs. 449/12. Towards the close there was slight liquidation and the market finally closed at 2-30 p.m. as under:—

PRODUCER MARKET
BOMBAY, June 25
The produce market was fairly firm to-day with increased activity on either side. It appears that some operators are trying to push up prices as a result of absence of rains but others believe that rains can make or mar the next crop and has not much to do with present situation.

BENGAL TREASURY BILLS.
Tenders for Rs. 4,00,00,000 of three months' Government of Bengal Treasury Bills were opened on Wednesday, the 25th June. The total amount offered was Rs. 2,00,00,000.

Trade And Mills Buying Against Textile Orders

New York Cotton Futures 7 To 12 Points Up

NEW YORK, June 24 (U.P.A.)
Spasmodically active trading and erratic prices featured today's session of the New York Cotton Exchange. Prices sawsawed over a range of 185 per bale responding to small orders either way and reacted sharply after early steadiness, influenced by the weakness in securities and uneasiness over the labour situation but turned again at the close of the market on the resumption of trade and mill buying against textile orders.

MINERS WALK OUT
The Central out of coal miners as a protest against the President's veto of the Labour Bill threatened steel and automobile production. Fears that the labour resentment will mean additional strikes are overclouding the industrial picture. It is realized that any prolonged interruption of mining eventually would affect textile production.

Today's session opened two to eight higher. Prices faltered temporarily after the opening and then surged up 32 to 35 points from the lows. Prices eased sharply in the mid-afternoon and then turned again to close a net seven to 12 higher. The forenoon upswing reflected the covering in July and reports that Thomas Jordan was a heavy buyer in New Orleans, presumably covering the sales put out yesterday.

the markets plus expectations of a higher mid-June parity price report on Friday, the anti-paired accorances by the Army of 20,000 bales for shipment to Japan and the inflationary sentiment were supporting influences. The situation in July was apparently losing its effect as the prime market influence. Initial tenders today were limited to one contract in New York and four in New Orleans. The lightness of tenders was below trade expectations and emphasized the tight old crop-supply situation. A leading spot firm was only a routine participant today. When October broke through the 22 cent level, New York Cotton merchants, were reported to have received advice from Alexandria that Egyptian cotton exports in the first nine months of the season approximated 748,000 bales versus 263,000 bales during the same period last year. Damage from leaf-worms was not reported to be serious, but it was indicated that legislation included some coal mine strikes and calls for widespread protest stoppages. Prices reacted and advanced in modest dealings with mixed changes of fractions to one point with losses predominating. Light pressure particularly under heading industries, utilities and specialties. The average were in districts 176/97 and rails 46/1. Pressure increased at times in the afternoon leading industries and this unsettled most of the other divisions. The market showed fairly well distributed losses ranging up to two points. Nervousness was apparent as organized labour marshals its forces in opposition to the newly enacted labour bill. It is already reported that 190,000 miners are on strike in the Appalachian region over the labour bill, causing estimated loss of 500,000 tons of coal. Liquidation eased in late dealings but rallying efforts proved feeble and the market closed easy at around the day's lowest levels showing losses up two points. The market sentiment temporarily is more two-sided because of the labour uncertainties, but usually accurate observers still favour the upside on inflationary sentiment which is based partly on the prospect of Government loans to bolster weak political structures overseas and the outlook for a higher crop loan next season.

WALL STREET MARKET CLOSES EARLY

NEW YORK, June 25
The stock market managed to maintain equilibrium with yesterday's expectations of a further advance on the labour bill becoming law being nullified by organized labour's reaction to the new legislation which included some coal mine strikes and calls for widespread protest stoppages. WORLD WHEAT COUNCIL FAILS TO BREAK DEADLOCK

WASHINGTON, June 25 (Reuters)
The International Wheat Council has failed in meetings here to break the deadlock in negotiations for an international commodity agreement on wheat that developed during the London Conference in April. Reporting that Council members "stood pat" on the positions they took at the London Council meeting an announcement said: "There remains at this time lack of unanimity on such points as the duration of the proposed agreement and the range of prices." Apparently excluding all possibility of reaching an agreement this year, the Council directed its Chairman to "keep in touch with member Governments and, if necessary, to call another meeting between September and November to consider what action might be taken in 1948.
